

Tikus' Song (To commemorate the Picasso Museum post-opening dinner at Antibes)
(Sung to the tune of "How Much Is That Doggie In The Window")

Constant had a dog that died and left him,
And then he was so all alone.
He wanted a dog to not be lonesome,
And the doggie would have a good home.

He didn't want a rabbit or a kitten,
He didn't want a parrot that talks,
He didn't want a bowl of little fishies,
Because you can't take a fish for a walk.

So, he went to the Pound to find another,
The choices consisted of one.
There in a corner sat Tikus,
And instantly the deal was all done.

In Mokum there are a lot of robbers,
With flashlights that shine in the dark,
But Tikus is here and will protect him,
He scares them away with his bark.
